GOP Speakers Rip Dems On Foreign Policy

Taft Answers Speech Adlai Was Presenting Nearby In Cincinnati

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, spearhead of a three-man Republican campaign squad, ripped into a speech by Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, even as it was being delivered a few blocks away last night.

The impromptu rebuttal added a crowning touch to an unusual situation where top speakers of both parties appeared in major speeches simultaneously in the same city.

Sen. Taft, scheduled for a major critique on foreign policy at the annual fall conference of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations, tossed most of his prepared text away in favor of an attack on Gov. Stevenson's speech. The Democratic candidate spoke at Memorial Hall.

Knowland, Bricker Talk
But foreign policy received attention from Sen. William F. Knowland of California and Sen. John W. Bricker of Ohio, both of whom preceded Sen. Taft on the lengthy program.

Sen. Taft retained some of his original foreign policy material, saying the election of Gov. Stevenson would mean "a continuation of the waverin, unstable, pro-Communist philosophy that has almost brought this country to destruction."

To a crowd of party officials and workers jammed into the ballroom of the Neil House, Taft snapped: "Mr. Stevenson has no remedy for the Korean War," and then said: "Gen. Dwight Eisenhower (GOP presidential nominee) said that in his opinion we should arm the South Koreans as rapidly as possible and when they are in a condition to defend themselves we should withdraw American troops. He recognizes that we cannot permanently maintain American troops on the continent of Asia."

Emphasizes Positive Approach
Sen. Taft did not say specifically he agreed with Sen. Eisenhower. He used the statement to point up what he considers to be the positive approach by Eisenhower and the negative position of Gov. Stevenson. He continued:

"More than that, the real difference between Mr. Stevenson and Gen. Eisenhower is that the Republican candidate promises to clean out the State Department."

"On June 13 he said he would clean out the top personnel of the State Department which was all from the Democratic party. He said 'we need a new administration and I mean new in all its parts.'

Fire Halts Train At Columbiana

COLUMBIANA — Pennsylvania Railroad Chicago-bound express No. 9 was detained here an hour last evening when fire damaged the front section of its three-section diesel locomotive. It was able to proceed with the remaining two sections after the Columbiana fire company had put out the fire.

The train came to a halt near the F. C. Russell Company's plant near the western edge of town and a fire alarm was sent in at 8:30 p.m. The fire had originated from some unknown cause under the engineer's cab and was burning fiercely when the train passed through town.

Russell St. John, gate man at the Main Street crossing, signaled the crew with his flashlight but the train already was slowing down. The diesel section was badly damaged, some of the fixtures under the cab having been melted off. The train got underway again about 9:30.

Ike Claims Dems Confused "By Opiate Of Red Deceit"

Truman Pleased By Reception To Campaign Tour

President Welcomed To California By Governor Warren

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—President Truman showed outward pleasure today over his reception by train-side crowds in the first week of his "give 'em hell" campaign to deglamorize Dwight D. Eisenhower. He showed no concern, whatsoever, aides reported, over occasional heckling and boos that punctuated his trip into the bay area for two speeches and a round of conferences with key figures in the complex California political situation.

Truman looked as fresh as he did last Saturday night when he started out from Washington on a coast-to-coast whistle stop tour for Adlai Stevenson in a virtually unprecedented campaign for another man.

In Virginia Campaign
He speaks at 5 p.m., EST, in the Palace Hotel. Then, to wind up a week of campaigning probably more vigorous than that he conducted for his own election in 1948, he moves over to Oakland for a major address at 11:30 p.m., EST, at a Democratic rally in the auditorium.

In this most unusual of campaign trips, Truman got a welcome to California by Republican Gov. Earl Warren after voicing praise of him as a "liberal" and paying compliments to Republican Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Sen. William E. Langer of North Dakota. The latter, professing no commitments yet in the presidential race, rode the Democratic campaign train across North Dakota.

Welcomed By Warren
Last night when the 16-car special pulled into Davis, Calif., last stop before Oakland, Gov. Warren climbed aboard to give Truman an official welcome after driving over from the capital at Sacramento.

Warren, who lost the GOP presidential nomination, welcomed Truman as he said he would always welcome "the President of the United States."

He mentioned their personal friendship and Truman praised Warren as "one of the greatest governors of the United States" who "has always been a friend of mine and always will be."

As Truman talked, a heckler wanted to know, "who writes your speeches," but the President gave no evidence he heard him.

The speech writing, incidentally, is being done by a crew under the direction of a former North Carolina part-time mail clerk, Charles S. Murphy, and a team of researchers with a bag full of material they want Truman to throw at Eisenhower next week in his "I like Ike—but" onslaught.

In his chief speech yesterday, at Redding, Calif., near the big Shasta Dam, Truman predicted an end to Western resource development "if the Republicans succeed in grabbing off the White House and the Congress next November."

Both Republican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, have extremely

4 Die, 13 Hurt In Bus Crash

Greyhound Collides With Tractor-Trailer

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—Four Greyhound bus passengers died and 13 other persons were injured today in Western Pennsylvania's third disastrous bus crash in 18 days.

The bus, from New York to Chicago, collided with a steel-laden tractor-trailer about 50 feet from the Laurel Hill service station on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, eight miles west of Somerset.

Both machines were going west. They were hurled from the high way but did not upset. One side of the bus was ripped out.

Three persons were killed outright. A fourth, David Roberts of East Orange, N. J., murmured his name and address to hospital attendants a few minutes before he died of a skull fracture in Somerset Community Hospital.

The other dead: Andrew B. Bjelbert, 39, a native of Sweden. Wilburn F. Williams, 42, Lovington, Ill.

Mrs. C. A. Thomas of Ft. Wayne, Ind. State police were trying to make more complete identification of the dead persons from their belongings and from papers on their persons.

Officers said all passengers on the bus, as well as its driver, were injured. Cause of the crash was not immediately determined.

On Sept. 17, a freight train struck a school bus at Collinsburg, Westmoreland County, killing four pupils and injuring 47. Two women died Sept. 18 in a Greyhound bus crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike only a few miles from the scene of today's tragedy. Twenty-nine persons were injured.

U.S. A. F. Blasts Red Coal Mine

2 MIGs Shot Down; Hill's Recaptured

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said U. N. jet pilots blasted a North Korean coal mine into flaming ruin and downed two more Red MIGs today. On the ground Allied infantrymen recaptured three Western Front outposts, including blood-soaked "Big Nori."

Sabre pilots reported shooting down the MIGs and damaging five others as they protected F84 Thunderjets bombing the coal mine, northwest of Kunu and near the Chongchon River.

The Sabre pilots' victories raised the Fifth Air Force's October bag of MIGs to six destroyed and 12 damaged.

The Far East Air Force reported today that the big Superfort raid on the sprawling Namsan chemical plant in North Korea Oct. 1 rendered it "completely unoperational."

The Fifth Air Force said six Allied warplanes were lost over North Korea during the week ended Friday. A Sabre jet and an Australian Meteor jet fell in air combat. Red antiaircraft guns shot down an F84 Thunderjet and a propeller-driven Skyraider. Another Thunderjet and a Sabre were lost to other causes.

Big Nori Hill, a bitterly-contested height less than a week ago, was recaptured without a fight Friday but then abandoned.

U. N. infantrymen returned to the crest today but had to drive off two enemy squads to reach it.

A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said Allied troops still were on the shell-pocked hill late this afternoon.

U.S. Expected To Hit Back At Kennan Ouster

Soviets Force Recall Of Ambassador; Post May Remain Vacant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to hit back soon at Russia for ousting Ambassador George F. Kennan on grounds he "slandered" the Soviets by comparing American life in Moscow to his internment in a Nazi prison camp.

Secretary of State Acheson and his principal aides started studying means of retaliation as soon as Moscow's demands for Kennan's recall yesterday plunged troubled American-Soviet relations into a new crisis.

Acheson, after a telephone conference with President Truman, forecast there probably would be a sharp new protest note to the Kremlin shortly. Officials looked for the Moscow post to be left vacant for a long time as an expression of American resentment.

The United States could expel newly-arrived Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin, but Acheson told newsmen there was "no present indication" of doing this. He apparently ruled out any idea of breaking off diplomatic relations.

As far as officials could determine, it was the first time in history an American ambassador has been ousted on the ground he was persona non grata, or personally unacceptable.

The episode overshadowed another major diplomatic development—the replacement of Sir Oliver Franks as British ambassador in Washington by Sir Roger Makins. Franks asked to be relieved after four years in the U. S. capital.

The change in British ambassadors was announced last night in London. Franks is leaving for home Nov. 28.

Makins, a tall, 48-year-old diplomat who like Franks is an economist as well, is due here in time for the presidential inauguration in January.

A former minister-counselor at the Washington embassy, Makins is a brother-in-law of William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman. Both married daughters of the late Dwight

Implies Truman, Adlai Try To Dismiss Issue Of Reds In High Office

ABOARD THE EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower moved his presidential campaign westward today, leaving in his trail a scalding indictment of an administration he said was "confused by the opiate" of Communist deceit.

Speaking in the 14,000-seat Milwaukee arena last night—to a house that was about two-thirds full—the GOP presidential nominee described efforts to minimize the Communist infiltration into government as "criminal folly."

And then he asserted—at least by implication—that President Truman and Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson had tried to dismiss the Communists-in-government problem lightly.

"We have all had enough," Eisenhower said, "of those who have sneered at the warnings of men trying to drive Communists from high places—but who have never had the sense or the stamina to take after the Communists themselves."

With this speech, Eisenhower supported the position of Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin that disloyalty and subversion still are grave threats to the nation's security. Then he headed for Minnesota and North Dakota.

McCarthy spoke to the crowd shortly before Eisenhower began his speech—and touched off a roar of cheering, punctuated by some boos.

He asserted: "As long as I represent the people of Wisconsin I will call them as I see them—no matter who happens to be president."

He called Eisenhower a man who would "make a great president—an outstanding president." He said with a grin that he had talked with the GOP candidate but "I can't report we agree entirely on everything." The crowd laughed.

He went on to attack the administration which he said "believes in a war prosperity."

Then talking of this prosperity and the casualties in Korea, he said: "How can you separate the jobs from the bodies? It can't be done."

McCarthy was interrupted at one point by boos and then a fight broke out between two youths in the rear of the arena.

"I don't let a few trouble makers bother me," McCarthy commented. And he went on with his address.

Eisenhower made it clear during a day of whistle stopping in McCarthy's home state that he didn't agree with the methods McCarthy has used in his anti-Communist campaign although he was supporting him for re-election.

McCarthy's enemies have accused him of using "smear" tactics in his campaign which has made him one of the most bitterly controversial figures in American politics.

Eisenhower has deplored such tactics and said Communists can be rooted from the government without tainting the names of innocent people.

"We have the right to call a spade a spade," Eisenhower said. "That means, in every proved case, the right to call a Red a Red. The time is past when we can hide our heads in the sands

Adlai Compares Farm Programs Of Dems, GOP

Farmers Told Ike Has No Agriculture Plan Of His Own

FORT DODGE, Iowa (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson stacked the Democratic farm record today alongside what he said is a GOP "record of obstruction" and told the nation's farmers: "You'd better be careful what you do on election day."

The Democratic presidential nominee picked this town in the heart of the corn belt for his second major farm speech of the campaign—a speech that laid down no new Democratic promises to the people who till the land.

Cites Farm Record
Instead, Stevenson cracked down on the Republican farm record and his Republican rival, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I don't believe," he said in his prepared text, "America will entrust its future to the masters of a house divided against itself on foreign policy, on domestic policy and perhaps most of all on farm policy."

The Illinois governor pounded at Eisenhower as having admitted being "at sea" on farm problems and then taking bad advice on them.

Says GOP Copies
He said in effect that the GOP has no farm policy of its own—only a copy of the Democratic platform. But it does have, he said, a "me too" candidate running on a "set-but" platform, advised by a "has-been" staff.

Fort Dodge was a mid-day speaking stop between major campaign addresses last night at Columbus, Ohio, and tonight at St. Paul, Minn.

Stevenson spent Friday on his first campaign swing into Ohio. He devoted the day to ripping into GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft on Taft's home grounds, jabbing at Eisenhower as embracing Taft and Old Guard isolationists, and telling the people the Democratic party is the one that understands their needs.

The crowds that saw the Illinois governor in Ohio were considerably less in numbers and enthusiasm than those which welcomed Eisenhower to the Buckeye State two weeks ago.

Spoke Simultaneously
That was the case both in Cincinnati, Taft's home town, and in Columbus, where Taft and Stevenson were speaking almost simultaneously in halls a quarter of a mile apart.

Taft said election of Stevenson would mean "a continuation of the wavering, unstable, pro-Communist philosophy that has almost brought this country to destruction."

Stevenson said Taft is "the uncrowned boss of the Republican party"—a throw-back to his contention that Eisenhower now has surrendered to the policies of the man he beat out for the GOP nomination.

Harr Trial Begins Monday At Lisbon

LISBON — Prosecutor James L. McDonald said he plans to call about 10 witnesses when Sylvester M. Harr, 21, goes on trial Monday for the second degree murder of a 70-year-old Center Township man last January.

MacDonald said the trial will more than likely consume most of the week with the jury seated Monday and then taken to view the scene of the crime on the Trinity Church Rd. near Lisbon. Fifty persons have been ordered to report Monday for jury duty.

Harr was indicted by the April Grand Jury for the murder of Mike Zlater.

Harr is alleged to have argued with Zlater over the sale of an old cook stove and in a fight struck the old man with a lump of coal.

Trials of those indicated by the September Grand Jury will follow Harr's case, MacDonald said.

World Observes Communion Day

Sunday Services Set For Observance Here

This Sunday morning members of Salem Churches will observe World-Wide Communion with other churches throughout the world. Pastors here urge their members to attend.

Various local churches give added significance to their services by special offerings for others less fortunate.

Unity in communion this Sunday is a fitting follow-up of a week which saw the dedication of the new Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible, as authorized by the National Council of the churches.

Presbyterian

Dr. Paul Gauss of Youngstown, executive secretary of the Youngstown Council of Churches, will have charge of the communion service Sunday at 8:45 and 10:45 a.m. in the Presbyterian Church. The Haviland Choir at 10:45 will sing "Thee We Adore." The Chancel Choir will sing at the 8:45 a.m. service, and there will be other special music.

Bible Study classes will begin Monday at 7 p.m. and run for two hours each Monday evening for six consecutive weeks. More than 30 are enrolled and anyone may participate in these classes, which will be conducted by Dr. Harry Roach, director of Christian Education for the Synod of Ohio.

Thursday at 4 p.m. the Chancel and Carol choir will rehearse. At 5 the Junior High Westminster Fellowship will have a snack lunch followed by a worship service. The Westminster Chorus will rehearse at 7.

Presbytery will install officers Sunday at 7:30 in the church parlors. A Bible quiz will be held. The history of the Bible will be emphasized at the meeting of the Senior High Westminster Fellowship Sunday at 6:30 in Westminster House. Mary Mercer will be in charge.

Methodist

At the Communion service Sunday in the Methodist Church, an offering will be received for "Fellowship of Suffering." The choir, directed by Thomas Crothers, will sing.

Rally Day was a success last Sunday, with 573 in the Sunday School and 436 at the worship service.

As a part of the Rally Day program a new adult class was formed in the Sunday school. Fifteen young couples were present to hear Jay Hunston, who continues as teacher.

Baptist

Rev. R. J. Hunter will conduct the communion service Sunday in the Baptist Church. His topic will be "In Remembrance." In the evening Rev. J. B. Cooper, a guest, will preach at the service at 7:30 in the church on "Prayer, A Potential Power." Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a.m. and Baptist Youth Fellowship at 10 a.m.

At the midweek service Wednesday evening, Mr. Hunter will lead a discussion on the old and new versions of the Bible.

Salem Baptists will attend the meeting of the Ohio Baptists Convention Oct. 14 to 16 in Barborton. Choir members honored Mr. Hunter in celebration of his birthday after choir practice last Thursday.

A Hymn Is Born

BY CLINT BONNER

Worship The King

A choir boy's voice changes

The Austrian carriage wheel maker loved music. And, as each grew old enough to read notes, he taught his 12 children to sing. When Franz Joseph was 8 years old he could sing so well that the chapel-master at Vienna put him in the choir at St. Stephens. But when Franz Joseph Haydn was 16 his voice changed and his younger brother, Johann Michael took his place. Thus began two of the greatest careers in music of the 18th century... careers that produced some of the world's finest compositions. And when he was an old man, the great Franz Joseph Haydn said "I know that God has bestowed a talent upon me and I thank Him for it; I think I have done my duty... let others do the same."

Johann Michael Haydn wrote 360 pieces of music for the church. He was past middle age and an accomplished composer in 1779, when a boy named Robert Grant was born in Scotland to a member of Parliament. Some say Robert Grant was born in India in 1785 while his father was chairman of the East India Company. But what matters when and where Robert Grant was born. It matters more that his father set a noble example for him.

Robert Grant followed his father to Parliament. He became a director in the East India Company and, when he was 55 years old, was made governor of Bombay. The elder Grant had encouraged missions in India. His son, Robert did more. He supported missions and he wrote hymns for the missionaries. Sir Robert Grant wrote little but he wrote well. In 1839, a year after he died in India, his brother, Charles, had his 12 hymn-poems published in a little book titled "Sacred Poems." They were set to various tunes and found their way into various hymnals one too might have been forgotten had it not been for a stately piece of music written by the son of a carriage wheel maker who taught his children to sing. Here are four of six verses, based on the 104th Psalm, written by the Governor of Bombay and set to music by Johann Michael Haydn.

Thy bountiful care what tongue can recite? It breathes in the air, it shines in the light, It streams from the hills, it descends to the plain, And sweetly distills in the dew and the rain.

Fraill children of dust, and feeble as frail, In Thee do we trust, nor find Thee to fail; Thy mercies how tender! how firm to the end! Our Maker, Defender, Redeemer and Friend.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
How To Keep Your Health

"He makes me sick!"
How many times have you heard someone say that "he" or "she" makes them sick? And how many times have you said it yourself?

It seems to be a phrase all of us hear quite often.

It's used in reference to employers and employees, salespeople and customers, parents and children, even husbands and wives. I suppose that it has been applied to almost every human relationship at one time or another.

And, as Dr. Arnold A. Hutschnecker, New York internist from whom I have quoted before, points out in his book, "The Will to Live," there's a good deal of truth in this phrase.

The doctor tells the story of a patient who once came to him. The man was obviously very ill, stooped and shuffling. His hands trembled. He had great difficulty in hearing the doctor's questions.

"When did you become deaf?" the doctor asked. The patient named the approximate year.

"Were you married then?" was the next question. The man said he was.

"And did your wife complain a great deal, perhaps loudly?" the doctor continued.

The patient became more animated. "Oh, it was simply intolerable!" he exclaimed.

THE RETREAT into illness from situations we cannot or do not wish to face is a phenomenon which has been noted by many doctors as well as by the psychologists and psychiatrists who have undertaken special studies in this field. And recognizing its causes, they now know that we can keep our health by facing up squarely to the everyday problems of everyday life. If we can learn to react intelligently rather than emotionally to the people and events which surround us each day we can maintain both emotional and physical balance.

Your religion offers a wonder-drug which can help you achieve an intelligent reaction and maintain your balance. If you faithfully follow its teachings and practice its techniques, people simply won't be able to "make you sick."

"Love thy neighbor," says the Bible, which is jam-packed with the kind of wisdom that can keep you whole and healthy. To love your neighbor is not only religious idealism, it is also good health practice.

I have written before or by good friend, Dr. Frank Laubach. Dr. Laubach's technique of loving his neighbors consists of "shooting" love at them; when riding in a bus, for example, he mentally "splashes love all over the place" or "shoots love" at the back of the head in the seat in front of him. And almost always that person will turn around, involuntarily, and smile at him. Obviously, people can't make Frank Laubach sick.

THE ACTIVE PRACTICE of love, as it is taught in the Bible, and the regular use of the techniques of prayer can develop within you an immunity to the kind of illness which arises from tension in human relations. Those wise ancients who passed on to us the religion we practice today knew the truths that Drs. Freud, Jung, Adler and other experimenters developed into an important science for modern man.

You can keep healthy by refusing to let other people make you sick. Learn to love them, whatever their faults. Remember that your own faults may affect them just as strongly as theirs do you. And keep your relationships with them on the plane of intelligence rather than emotion.

Science is discovering what religion has always taught—that the practice of what the Bible calls "love" can help you keep your health.

Probe Immorality At Lorain High School

LORAIN, O. (AP)—Lorain County authorities today investigated what they described as reports of shocking sex and drinking activities among high school students.

County Probation Officer Ray Warren said investigators have reported intimacies between students occurred in homes and automobiles. Drinking was reported at Lorain High School football games and other affairs.

Assistant Lorain County Prosecutor Harold S. Ewing said some of the reports were "shocking and unbelievable" and called for immediate steps to correct the situation. The inquiry was said to involve more than 50 students. Some parents were demanding that drive-in theatre operators clear their parking lots after the shows end.

King October

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—If the Lord whispered in your secret heart that you had but one month to live, and let you pick that month, which would you choose?

I'd say October.

The birds love it, the beasts love it, and man himself then stands upon the summit of the year. October is all the other seasons wrapped into a 31-day grabbag package, tied with a rainbow ribbon. It is the period when Mother Nature, the great dramatist, brings her traveling road show to a climax.

This is the month that like a cider press squeezes out the best juices of all the other months—the promise of spring, the sultry joys of summer, the afterglow of autumn, the premonitory chill of winter.

Everything that walks the earth feels an amber thrill, a tremendous bubbling vitality that sings in the pulse.

Now is the glory of the universe manifest, and in the mighty pageant of the hills each patch of woods elects its own tree beauty queen. You like the dogwood? We won't quarrel. I'll take the maple, that yellow torch.

The birds looked on disdainfully while foolish man clogged every streaming road with his July vacationers. They know the right time to travel. They have hung a 'to let' sign on their nests and cloud the serene skies with a billion wings beating Southward. The worm they missed noses deeper into the turf, muttering, "safe at last."

It is if everyone suddenly had been given magic color glasses. The stars bend nearer. And that bib blob of moon . . . A child feels it is so close he could reach up with a knife and spread it on his bread like butter.

The stag stamps on the hilltop and lifts an amorous bugle to the night. Deep in the forest the doe hears his imperial summons and says, "what, again?" but she does not hesitate long.

The throb in every woodland heart has an echo in the city. October knows no boundaries. Listen . . . can't you hear and feel its music in the air? The miser, furtively depositing acorns in a hidden safe deposit box that will be emptied by March.

The bear invests his excess profits in fat, planning to live off this stored capital until he emerges from his hibernation nest. October wears a crown and makes every man a king. He bears the harvest superiority of the spring, cross and bankrupt. rounded apple over the petaled flowered, the advantage fruition and achievement have over pale promises. April is the fledgling politician of the year, saying "Stick with me and we'll go places." October is the mature statesman holding out the golden reward.

WHY DOES GOD CARE?

Three thousand years ago David asked the baffling question that has ever plagued the mind of man.

We are so tiny in the vastness of space, so drab in the grandeur of nature. Why does God care about each one of us?

David never found the answer. It remained for Jesus Christ to reveal the Love of God.

But David saw and believed the evidence of man's importance to God in the glory and honor God had given man: Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels.

Next Sunday—World Communion Sunday—Christians will unite in the sacrament which is their richest experience of the glory and honor God has given.

The World over, men will rejoice in a Divine Love so far-reaching that God gave His Son for humanity!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Look, Listen And Vote

This is the homestretch of the presidential campaign. Time has been flying since the race began last August.

Reliable reports from the two camps indicate the Republicans are well satisfied with their progress and have no last-minute changes in mind, but that the Stevenson strategists are going to turn on more steam.

First, they'll have to get the steam. We think they are running out of steam for a historic reason and will be unable to do anything about it.

They have worn out their welcome. Having hit their peak under Franklin D. Roosevelt, they never will reach it again.

All the hundreds of thousands of dollars being spent directly on the presidential campaign and the vast sums being spent indirectly are not going to have much effect on the ultimate decision of voters.

That is the decision which some 60 million Americans will make in the polling places when they decide whether to renew the mandate for a party which has reached the dead end of Trumanism, or whether to make a fresh start with Dwight Eisenhower.

The dead cats and ripe tomatoes which have been hurled during the campaign will be of no great consequence when it's time to make that decision.

The American people are looking and listening while the campaign continues. But when it comes to voting, that's something they do with their hearts and minds, not with their eyes and ears.

The hunch that the campaign is all over but the shouting could be wrong. Adlai Stevenson, who is an able and imaginative man, might rise so far above his origins in Americans for Democratic Action, the Arvey machine, the disgruntled South and the labor unions that he would dwarf Dwight Eisenhower. Unless he can do this before Nov. 4, the governor of Illinois is destined to reap the whirlwind sowed by too much Trumanism too long continued in Washington.

Now We Don't Need Tapioca

American ingenuity has found an answer to another of the shortages which always are cropping up. Something like the way synthetic rubber filled the need when war cut off the natural product.

Now science has found a way to assure that there will be no serious shortage in tapioca. There are some who believe that a tapioca famine would be nothing to get excited about but it is still an important item in commerce and diet.

Tapioca is a product of the cassava plant, grown largely in Burma and the Dutch East Indies to a lesser extent in Brazil. The Japanese destroyed plantings so U.S. imports dropped from a peak of 432 million pounds in 1937 to less than 110 million pounds last year. It was alarming to tapioca lovers.

Now, it is announced, a substitute superior to the original is being produced from a new kind of "waxy" corn being grown in Illinois, Indiana and Iowa. Farmers operating under contract with manufacturers are raising more than 2 million bushels of the new corn this year.

Beside doing everything which tapioca does, this new product makes a tasty confection which is described as a cross between corn flakes and popcorn.

First seeds of the new corn were brought to this country in 1908 by a missionary returning from China. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has been experimenting with it ever since but it didn't become very important until the tapioca shortage developed.

It also was a missionary who brought back the first seeds of tampala, a new vegetable much like spinach. In spite of this, it is conceded that missionaries do a lot of good.

Bargaining Trusts

The reasons why the coal industry was nicked for half again as much by John Lewis as Phil Murray could get out of the steel industry in contract negotiations is too obvious to be blinked at.

Lewis has an even better organized union behind him than Murray had when he was negotiating with the steel industry. But this time, for a change, the steel industry hung together, while the coal industry's competing members were in a mood to hang separately.

Next time John Lewis comes up against the coal industry, watch for a change.

Nationwide bargaining by well-disciplined unions is forcing employers to think about nationwide organization to offset the power of the unions.

The steel industry, always a bellwether, has marked the way.

The coal industry, the auto industry and the rubber industry will try to do the same thing. Bargaining trusts are as certain to be the result of nationwide bargaining as nationwide bargaining was certain to be the result of the Wagner Act.

The Wagner Act, incidentally, is part and parcel of the Taft-Hartley Act, which the big unions say should be repealed. That would be something to see—the repeal of the charter which made big unions possible.

Truman's Deal

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Pact With CIO Only Part Of Capito! Mess

Information has become available which indicates that President Truman did make a deal with Phil Murray of the United Steelworkers of America, CIO, whereby the President agreed not to use the Taft-Hartley Act if the union would take a certain course of action.

This amazing step is probably unprecedented—an agreement by a President of the United States not to invoke a statute even if the public interest necessitated it.

Proof of the existence of the "deal" is contained in a recording of a broadcast made by Murray June 22 last over Radio Station WWCW at Gary, Ind., to a meeting of steelworkers. The section of Murray's speech referring to his negotiations with President Truman is as follows:

"AS EARLY AS DEC. 22 of 1951, in response to a call made upon us by the President of the United States, your international wage policy committee postponed a strike scheduled for Jan. 1, 1952. I remember distinctly just about the day before Christmas, 1951, President Truman communicated with me and, in the national interest, he suggested that our original strike scheduled for Jan. 1 be postponed. He at that time said that 'if you willingly and voluntarily agree to a suspension of the strike, I believe you need have no fear of the courts imposing upon your membership the so-called Taft-Hartley injunction process.'"

"So, proceeding in accordance with the request of the President of the United States, your international union postponed the strike on several occasions. . . . Mr. Truman had no legal or moral right to enter into a bargain with the steelworkers or any other group of private citizens. He had no authority to promise immunity from prosecution to any citizens who might later be properly subject to the processes of law."

The Taft-Hartley act is not mandatory—there is no requirement compelling the President to invoke it. Congress made the statute discretionary—that is, the President may or may not use it as he wishes. The assumption of Congress, however, was that the Taft-Hartley Act would be used or not used depending on whether a strike or threat of strike could be settled without recourse to the statute.

IT NEVER WAS intended that the President of the United States could say either to management or to labor groups that he would refrain from using a law if a strike were postponed. The purpose was just the opposite—to threaten use of the law if it wasn't settled.

In this instance, even though a strike was eventually called, the President, despite a request formally voted last June by both houses of Congress, refused to invoke the law. He had rendered the United States government powerless.

less to act because he had pledged himself in a private deal not to use the law in exchange for a postponement of the strike.

While it was desirable for the President to try to get a strike postponed, he transgressed his authority and deviated from his public obligation to treat all contending interests fairly and equitably when he permitted the head of a union to shape his union negotiations on the basis of an assurance that, no matter what he did after a certain period of time, no use would be made of the federal labor-management law. The President was in duty bound to disclose to the country—to management as well as labor—what he did.

To enter into a secret deal with the head of a labor union while at the same time directing the course of a labor-management dispute toward the government's stabilization board was an impropriety on the part of the chief executive which is far worse in some respects than Mr. Truman's seizure of the steel plants on the now exploded theory of "inherent power."

For, while the Supreme Court of the United States overruled Mr. Truman, at least the President had some legal advice from the Department of Justice which it was his privilege to test in court.

MAKING A DEAL with the head of a labor union, pledging that a certain law would not be used, was plainly a violation of the first principles of ethics in high presidential office. No President of the United States has the legal or moral right to promise not to use a law passed by Congress when the circumstances that might subsequently arise would necessitate such use in the public interest.

For many weeks early this year the country wondered why Mr. Truman didn't invoke the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel controversy. It was generally supposed at the time that he had some political feeling about it and was reluctant to use the law because it might seem to prove that the statute did have a constructive value. But now it turns out that this was not the reason at all—in deed Mr. Truman had used the Taft-Hartley Act against the United Mine Workers on previous occasions. The real reason, it now develops, for failure to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act last December and thereafter when the steel strike finally did occur was that Mr. Truman had privately pledged himself to Murray that he wouldn't use the law.

Mr. Truman at present is going up and down the country with his expenses being paid by the Democratic campaign fund, which has received substantial contributions from the CIO's Political Action Committee, and the latter organization has publicly endorsed the Democratic presidential nominee, Gov. Adlai Stevenson. This is why "the mess in Washington" has alarmed the American people—they do not yet know all of it.

Even if Stevenson dropped this one it wouldn't be a total loss. . . he would end up with a bigger rag file than Berle.

My Alderman says he doesn't know why anybody should attack the candidate who gets the most laughs. He says, "after all we've won before by giving the people Wallace, Vaughan, Caudle and plenty of chuckles."

He says, "If we win this one. . . and I don't doubt we will. . . I am going to propose that we become known not alone as the party of the people but as the party of the laughing people."

Marxism And Religion

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

As the years pass, it grows increasingly difficult to understand how some clergymen of various religions uphold communism and support Soviet Russia's program of world imperialism. The Red Dean of Canterbury is not an outstanding exception. Every list of sponsors of communism activities in the United States includes Protestant clergymen and Jewish rabbis, who apparently do not repudiate the purposes of the Marxists with their own beliefs.

The Marxist attitude toward religion was recently stated in Soviet Russia by P. F. Kolonitsky, under the auspices of the "Society for the Dissemination of Scientific and Political Knowledge." Kolonitsky is important enough for his lecture to have been circulated as a brochure.

HE SAID (I am quoting from a condensed version):

"... The communist ethics is the exact opposite of the religious ethic. They are as incompatible as freedom and slavery, truth and falsehood, light and darkness. Communism is the great banner of the struggle for the liberation of the working class, the working people, from slavery and exploitation; religion constitutes an ideology for justifying and preserving slavery and exploitation."

"In contrast to the communist ethic, the religious ethic is an exploiters' ethic. Its precepts are designed to preserve all forms of oppression and exploitation—slave holding, feudal or bourgeois. Each new ruling class of exploiters adapts religion and its ethic to buttress its rule, but the essence remains the same—the preservation of exploitation, justification in God's name of the ruling classes' domination over the working people, preaching submissiveness and resignation among the working people."

Not a word is said in this article of the doctrine of love, of pity, of charity. Nothing is said of the effects upon man's mind and conscience of the ten commandments.

signation among the working people."

This is what is being taught in every communist country, in keeping with Karl Marx's materialistic concepts. There is no God; there is only the eternal struggle between class and class, between the exploiter and the exploited. There is no morality; there is only the struggle between man and his environment. This they believe to be true and with this concept they will not compromise. Therefore those clergymen in our own country who support Marxism are supporting the enemies of God.

KOLONITSKY SAYS:

"Religion persistently fills believers with the idea that people can accomplish nothing without God's will, that their whole fate is in God's hands. Man is only a creature of God, a worm, a slave of God. . . . It is clear that such an ethic is capable only of extinguishing every will to struggle in man, of killing any impulse to action, of poisoning his soul with the venom of disbelief in his own powers. . . . Furthermore, religion preaches renunciation of earthly good, considers earthly life transitory and worthless. . . .

"Particularly indicative in this respect is the cult of the sufferings of Christ. . . . He is always presented as a model for Christians. Christ suffered and bade us to suffer—this is the most important maxim of Christian ethics. . . .

It is to our advantage to understand that they are not only the enemies of our country but that they abhor our civilization. And what they hate most in our civilization is God.

of the beatitudes, of the whole tradition of natural law. It would seem that this is not only a materialistic, atheistic response to Judaic-Christian beliefs, but also it would seem to indicate that this master of philosophy has no knowledge of Christianity except perhaps in its most deadenly ritualistic form.

I wonder what American clergymen and the Red Dean have to say about this:

"Under our conditions religious superstition represents not only religious people's extremely backward notions about the surrounding world, but also vestiges of bourgeois ideology, particularly the bourgeois ethic. Therefore religious superstition is overcome not only through enlightenment, of knowledge, but through communist education as a whole. And communist education, as is known, is a considerably broader idea than simply classroom education. . . .

IT IS IMPORTANT

to know what the communists believe and say in their own country. American apologists for them try to give the impression that they are actually not what they seem to be. It is like the State Department trying to tell us that the Chinese Communists were not communists at all, but agrarian reformers; that is, until they began to murder our sons in Korea and our missionaries in China.

It is to our advantage to understand that they are not only the enemies of our country but that they abhor our civilization. And what they hate most in our civilization is God.

Simply Grotesque

By TRUMAN TWILL

Inez Robb was yelping about the revival of barrel dresses and cloche hats the other day, but without authority. She will wear 'em when the time comes.

Inez will go along with fashion, being a woman. In this country it's only the men who have a right to yelp when fashion designers make apes of their pretties.

For the aid of anyone too young to remember what a woman looks like with her head poked through a flour sack while wearing a hat shaped like a kettle, that's the picture. It's coming into fashion again. It will be tough on the men. Millions of us who were willing to wade through swamp and fire at an early age to reach the girl of our dreams used to think we were having nightmares when we saw the get-ups. But we plunged on, figuring things could not get worse and therefore had to get better. They did.

Trunkfuls of those cloche hats and sacks were saved as curios, because it was a good bet no one would believe they ever had been fashionable without the evidence. There may not be enough to take care of the Halloween trade this year, but we can arrange a modeling of these weird outfits for anyone whose life insurance "can stand it."

On an anniversary a few years ago, this was done at our house. It turned out otherwise would have been an excuse for tearful reminiscence into a celebration.

We did have a lot of fun as members of the jazz generation—the last generation to have fun with a clear conscience—but no one envied the girls their play suits. No woman who remembers F. Scott Fitzgerald would put on a cloche hat to go back to that era of horror.

The cuties looked like freaks, and the clock-stoppers looked twice as bad as they were. Every knock knee, bow leg, watermelon belly and flat chest was magnified. Every face looked like something staring through the mossy sides of a fish bowl. It was grotesque, and sometimes when a swain was mucking along in the midst of it he wondered why he didn't swear off before they put him in a sack too before they put him in a sack too.

This is what is coming back. This is what Inez Robb says will be too much to bear, though no woman who says that can be taken seriously.

With women, appearance is competitive. When the other women put on their broom-riding outfits, Inez will pull up her socks and take off with Flight 1953, destination unknown, like a good girl.

One thing makes it bearable. Wading through swamp and fire to reach the girl of your dreams, even if she looks pretty swampy when you get there, has been going on too long to be affected by anything in the world of fashion.

The girls always look chase-worthy at the time—even tough old biddies who look that way by candlelight only. The only thing is, they shouldn't be forced to press their luck. Designers should ask forgiveness whenever they doodle with hats which look like overturned kettles and dresses which reach from the knees to the shoulders and go blah in between.

Women aren't that chase-worthy, except maybe in the jazz generation away back there in the era of wonderful nonsense.

About 2,000,000 children are born in this country each year. One of our most successful crops is the baby-sitters.

Good Old Ike

Plenty of voters—and they include many Democrats—think a 10-year tax statement by Gen. Ike Eisenhower might well read as follows:

1—Full name. (Won't the button suffice?)

2—What is your business? (I am the exterminator man.)

3—What do you exterminate? (Nazi, Fascist and totalitarian rats. Spies, stinkers and termites given special treatment or your money back.)

4—Any partnerships? (Sure, G. I. Joe, Gus Q. Citizen and the freedom-loving peoples of the world.)

5—Did you engage in any other enterprises? (Yeah. Roundup, Sledgehammer, Torch and Overlord. Remember?)

6—What was the net profit? (Oh, about $200,000,000,000 worth of freedom, national security, general life insurance, national prestige and American glory.)

7—Have you had any losses by storm? (If I had not postponed that D-Day landing, I would have had plenty.)

PART II:

Q—Give your income and profit from that Gettysburg dairy herd.

A—Brother, I have had so little time to devote to them that cows that, for all I know, they are giving soda and Coke. You can't get a cow to back into a mike or milk one on a train platform.

Q—WHAT CORPORATIONS are you connected with?

A—A Dictator Effacement Co., the International Tyrant Removal Co. and the World Stuffed Shirt Stripping Corporation, Inc.

Q—What stocks and bonds do you hold?

A—In The Der Fuehrer's Face Fours of 1945, Benito Deflation Sixes of 1944, Kesselring Exit Three-and-a-halves, '43-'45, and Moscow Containments 1950-1952.

If you have any bad debts, give list.

A—Joe Stalin borrowed a lot of stuff when he was in a tough spot, if that isn't a bad debt, name one. I also figure Harry Truman owes me plenty, more specially an explanation why he once said I was his choice for President and now says I am Boob McNutt, the agent of the vicious interests.

List your contributions.

A—I have given a pain in the back to the Democrats, a case of jitters to Mr. Truman, my life service to my country and my heart, soul, brain and energy to Uncle Sam.

Q—Do you claim anything for depreciation?

A—Only when I listen to descriptions of me by my opponents.

PART III:

Dividends. List those obtained.

A—The gratitude of my country, a nomination for the presidency of the United States and a good dairy herd at Gettysburg.

Q—Have you had any medical expenses?

A—No, but, if I get through the rest of this campaign okay, I will need luck.

Q—What were your contributions in the past decade?

A—I helped to give Hitler the works, hand Goering more than he asked for, and gave Goebbels a bellyful.

Q—Do you claim any deductions?

A—I am satisfied with my part in "deducting" Adolf from the back of mankind.

Sign full name here. (Aw, won't one of my buttons suffice?)

When asked about socialized medicine on a youth forum program, he replied, "There is nothing to that. There isn't a chance of socialized medicine in this country. It's just put out to scare people." . . . This campaign is so full of exposures that the slogan should be "from glass house to White House."

FLOATING MINING PLANT TAKES A TRIP—One of the most remarkable accomplishments in the history of U. S. industry took place recently with the building and dramatic moving of the world's only floating sulphur mining plant 65 miles from Grande Ecaille, La., to Bay Ste. Elaine. The unique, $2,000,000 plant, built by the Freeport Sulphur Company to extract sulphur from a deposit hundreds of feet beneath Bay Ste. Elaine, will pour nearly 2,000,000 gallons of superheated water (325 degrees F.) into the deposit every 24 hours to melt the sulphur. At full operation, the plant is expected to produce 100,000 long tons of sulphur a year. Photo shows the plant, mounted on a huge steel barge, being towed through a narrow canal in the Louisiana marshland. Most difficult part of the trip was negotiating a 90-degree turn into Bayou Lafourche to get the unwieldy plant through a swing bridge at Levee.

Light, All-Metal Prefabricated Bunkers Save Lives In Korea

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA — The defenders of "Old Baldy" are singing the praises of a new, light, all-metal prefabricated bunker.

This bunker, born of grim necessity, is a great improvement over the "Abe Lincoln" prefabricated bunkers of logs which made their appearance on the front only a short time ago.

Troops of the 38th Regiment, U.

S. Second Division, vow they can put together the metal bunkers and make a protective roof in less than 30 minutes. Time is a matter of life and death when troops storm up a hill and need quick cover from thunderous Communist shell-

Engineers of the Second Division designed the shelters. They are constructed with barbed wire pickets and welded into four sections. Each section weighs about 75 pounds.

One man can carry a section. This allows a sharp speed-up in construction over the "Abe Lincoln" log bunkers. It generally takes two men to carry each log, and 30 to 40 logs are used for one bunker, the Second Division said.

The metal bunker has openings for firing on all four sides. When complete, it is 5 feet square and 3½ feet high.

"There isn't much room on the inside, but for a fighting bunker they are number one," commented an Old Baldy veteran, Pfc. Orval Dietz of Saule Ste. Marie, Mich.

Skippin' Around

By SKIP GREENISEN

Two former Salem lads, Sammy Williams and Tommy Boone, played themselves a whole of a football game last night in Tiger Stadium, Massillon, when Coach Chuck Mather's Tigers came from behind to score a 40-19 victory over the Barborton Magics.

Williams, an end, played a terrific game on defense for the Tigers and managed to complete the Massillon scoring with a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Formerly a halfback, Williams was moved to end this season and the move proved to be a good one. The senior griddler has played both offensive and defensive end for the Tigers but this week he lost his offensive position and was used only defensively until the fourth quarter. He was constantly breaking into the Barborton backfield and stopping plays before they could get underway. His defensive play was spectacular throughout the entire game and Mather elected to let him play offensively in the fourth period.

Near the end of the game Williams took a pass on his 15-yard line and outran two Magic tacklers to score the TD, Massillon's sixth and last of the contest.

Boone served the Tigers at the safety position and boosted both the extra points and kickoffs. The junior fullback had three good conversions before missing two more before the final extra point, a total of four conversions in six attempts.

It was his first night as the kickoff boater and he gave a fine exhibition by starting off with a boot to the seven-yard line but the Tigers went lame on the play.

The Barborton halfback took the ball on the seven and raced down the sidelines with excellent blocking for the Magics touchdown, seconds after Massillon had taken a 7-0 lead.

THE KICKOFF RETURN touchdown inspired the Barborton gridders and they went on to tally two more touchdowns in the second period to hold a 19-7 margin over the Tigers when the two squads paused for the halftime rest.

However, it was all Massillon in the final two quarters as they rolled up 12 first downs while not yielding the Magics one in the final half. The Tigers came back with 14 points in the third quarter and 19 in the fourth period to easily win the contest, 40-19.

The Massillon eleven reminded this writer of the Cleveland Browns, a team that can score when it wants to and one that can play defensive ball and hold the opponents to practically nothing when the chips are down.

Bob Smith, who announces for the Browns when they are playing in Municipal Stadium, was at the mike last night in Tiger Stadium, introducing both squads in the same procedure that is followed in the professionals' home grounds.

THE HALFTIME performance of the Tigers Swing Band also reminded us of some top college bands. The band danced to the beat of their own music throughout the entire halftime program and played under an array of spotlights when the field lights were blacked.

Seeing the Massillon-Barborton contest and all the trimmings that go with it make us wonder if Massillon is really as Fritz Howell put it, "Football, U. S. A."

Leetonia Rolls Over Minerva; Columbiana Tops Springfield Twp.

By TOM ROSER

Their great offense slowed to a walk by penalties, the East Liverpool Potters were tied 13-13 last night by the Sandusky High School Blue Streaks at the Lake Erie city's home stadium.

In other county grid action: At East Palestine, Lisbon remained among the undefeated, connecting with a late aerial TD to come from behind in a see-saw game to edge the Bulldogs, 26-21.

Leetonia rolled over Minerva, 13-0, Columbiana Smashed Springfield Township, 24-0, and Weelsville was downed by Toronto, 18-0.

Salem meets Canton Timken tonight.

RATED THIRD top team in the state previous to the game, the Potters miscues drew them a whipping 110 yards in penalties, 6 set-backs coming at crucial times in touchdown drives.

In the opening quarter, End Bob McCoy intercepted Streaks' back Acierio's pass on the Sandusky 44.

Halfback Clair Williams raced to the Sandusky 29, but the Potters were caught holding and penalized 15 yards right back to where the play began on the 44.

On the next play Williams passed to McCoy who made a great catch on the 19 and outran the secondary to score. Fullback Eddie Oliver's placement was good and the Potters led 7-0.

Striking back in like fashion in the second quarter, the Streaks' Acierio grabbed a Williams pass on the Potters' 45. Left Halfback Jude Theibert then set up the first Sandusky score, breaking through the left side of the Potter line and racing to the 8. He was nailed by Walt Hughes from behind.

On the next play Back John Manual was flipped for a 15-yard loss back to the 23 by the East Liverpool line. However Theibert then picked up two yards, and then passed to End Alphon White just inside the end zone for the score. Acierio's placement was wide and the Potters led 7-6.

The rested Potters came out from halftime, took the kickoff, and marched 69 yards to score. Williams passed to End Jerry Wines to take the ball to the Sandusky 21 where he then hit Oliver in the left flat, the fullback racing 15 yards to score. The placement by Oliver was wide, and East Liverpool led 13-6.

Two breaks in the final quarter led to the tying TD. Oliver attempted to punt on his own 20 and the kick was partially blocked. The ball bounded only to the 30 where Manual recovered.

Theibert and Manual lugged the pigskin to the Potters' 8, but a fumble in the Streak backfield was recovered by the visitors. On third down, with the ball on the East Liverpool 16, Williams faded to pass. He was trapped, hit hard, and fumbled, with Streak Tackle Len Taylor recovering only 6 yards from the end zone.

Theibert went to the 3. Acierio picked up 1, and then drove over his own right guard to score. He then booted the placement to tie the score.

East Liverpool took to the air, reaching the Sandusky 28, but another pass was intercepted. Later the Potters passed to the streak 42 yard line where, with only seconds remaining, Oliver attempted a field goal which fell far short.

The game was one of the most savage of the season, with tackling and blocking by both teams extremely hard. The tie gives the Potters a season record of 3 wins and a tie.

A TOUCHDOWN PASS from Quarterback Dean Nicholson to Halfback Jerry Rose with barely two minutes left in the game, provided the edge that kept Lisbon in the undefeated ranks last night.

The Nicholson to Rose combination was worked to perfection by the Blue Devils throughout the game which went into the records as East Palestine's second loss of the year against two wins.

In the first period of the contest in which the lead changed hands in every quarter, Nicholson passed to Rose for a TD on a play covering 65 yards, but the tally was called back because of an off-side penalty against Lisbon.

East Palestine then racked up a score that stayed on the scoreboard. Halfback Tony Conkle broke through the center of the line and raced 59 yards to the end zone and the Bulldogs took the lead. Spike Henry scored the extra point with a center plunge.

The first quarter ended with Lisbon on the East Palestine 1-yard line. The next play lost one yard but on the following play Rose drove over for the TD. A pass from Nicholson to Rose for the extra point was no good, and East Palestine remained ahead, 7-6.

Henry took the kickoff from Lisbon and sped 65 yards to the Lisbon 27, but the Bulldogs lost the ball on a fumble on the 14. Later in the second period, a bad pass from center by East Palestine on fourth down gave Lisbon the ball on the Bulldogs' 15.

On the next play, Nicholson hit his scoring mate Rose with an aerial for the TD. The extra point was good and Lisbon led at the half, 13-7.

Fighting back hard after the halftime recess, East Palestine took the kickoff and drove 80 yards in a series of short ground gains for a touchdown. Meek scored for the Bulldogs on a quarterback sneak. Conkle plunged for the extra point and East Palestine went back to the lead, 14-13.

A Lisbon drive stalled on a fumble on the East Palestine 45 which was recovered by the Bulldogs. Capitalizing on the break, they quickly drove down to the 9 yard line where Henry ran around end for the score. Bush plunged over for the extra point as the quarter ended, and East Palestine held when seemed to be a safe lead, 21-13.

Refusing to give up, the Blue Devils returned the kickoff to their own 31 where Nicholson passed to Dick Bosel to the East Palestine 40. A series of ground thrusts took the ball to the 1 and Sonny Utt pushed across for the TD. The extra point try failed, and East Palestine still led 21-19.

Lisbon held East Palestine on downs and Rose returned the Bulldogs' punt to the Lisbon 10. The Blue Devils drove up to their 40 and then with the clock running out, uncorked one of the most sensational scoring plays of the year. Nicholson fired a short pass to Rose on the 45, and the speedy halfback twisted and spun his way 53 yards to paydirt, and the game-winning TD.

Utt plunged for the extra point and the score read 26-21. East Palestine tried four desperation passes after receiving the kickoff, but the last one was intercepted by Adams for Lisbon on Lisbon's 45 and the Blue Devils stalled out the remaining seconds of the hard-fought game.

Lisbon now has a record for the year of 3 wins, a tie with Poland, and no losses.

JOE BILLET, senior quarterback passed and ran Leetonia's High School's Bears to their convincing 33-13 win over Minerva on the losers' field last night.

Leetonia scored all their points in the first half while Minerva tallied their two TDs in the final period.

Billet started the Bears' scoring parade with a pass to Halfback Fred Culler in the first quarter, good for 12 yards and the score. Billet had tossed an aerial to Culler the play before that was good for 30 yards to bring the Bears into scoring territory. Fullback Joe Guido kicked for the extra point.

In the same period, the Bears' backfield, behind a hard charging line, rolled up a ground attack for 57 yards to the Minerva 3. Billet then took the ball around end for the score. Guido's kick was good and Leetonia led, 14-0.

In the second quarter, Billet again scored, this time on a run around right end for 7 yards, after the Bears had taken over the ball on their own 40 and driven into Minerva territory by the ground route. The extra point kick was blocked.

Joe Guido then took up the passing chores for Leetonia and took over where Billet left off, hitting End Harry Kornbau with a 45-yard TD pass. Guido's kick was good for the extra point.

Later in the same quarter, Billet tossed another TD pass, again completing to Fred Culler. The play covered 20 yards to score. Minerva didn't threaten in the first three periods, but got rolling in the last canto. A series of passes took them to the Leetonia six-yard line where Jim Roach went off tackle for the tally. Kiser's run for the extra point failed.

Again taking over the ball on the 50-yard line after a Leetonia punt, Minerva moved the ball to the Bears' 7 on a string of short passes and ground advances where Roach again crossed into the end zone on the off-tackle play. Treacher scored the extra point on an end-around play.

Leetonia's cause was aided by the driving fullback Joe Guido, who gained valuable yardage in the touchdown drives. Bill Biling, halfback whose ankle was injured in the Bears' opener against East Palestine, saw some action last night for the first time since that game.

The win gives Leetonia a season's record of 3 wins and 1 loss.

FRED FORNEY, 155-pound senior halfback, kept a large crowd at Columbiana stadium on their feet cheering last night as he raced for touchdowns in every quarter to lead the Clippers to a 24-0 victory over Springfield Township.

Forney took the spotlight with the opening kickoff, never to relinquish it. Taking a long Springfield boot on his own 5 yard line, the speedy back broke downfield along the sideline, receiving several key blocks on his way, and raced 95 yards to score for the Clippers.

Forney's second quarter TD came on a 13-yard dash around end, completing a drive that began on Columbiana's own 23 yard line, where Clipper backs began steadily grinding out yardage toward paydirt.

In the third quarter, Forney tallied again, climaxing a 52 yard Columbiana drive with a 7-yard touchdown plunge through the middle of the New Springfield line. Again striking from far out, Columbiana broke Forney loose around end on the 41 in the fourth quarter, and he raced in to score the last TD of the evening. The win gives the Clippers a season's record of two wins and two losses.

Columbiana's line kept New Springfield well in hand all evening, far from scoring territory.

College Football On Full-Scale

Michigan State Rated No. 1 Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Today not only presents the first full-scale program of the college football season, but it also is 'P'—Produce Day—for some of the top teams.

Michigan State, the No. 1 team in the country in the first Associated Press poll of sports writers, plays Oregon State, and Coach Biggie Munn is hoping his boys show better than last year.

The 1951 game wound up with the Spartans barely eking out a 6-0 triumph. The form chart says Michigan State should win with touchdowns to spare.

Illinois, No. 2 and the logical Big 10 champion, gets down to business against Wisconsin. The Illini can't make another trip to the Rose Bowl this year, but the Badgers are very much eligible.

If Wisconsin can get past Illinois, the Badgers probably will wind up playing in Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day. But even if Illinois wins it, Wisconsin still could make the trip if it puts up a good showing the rest of the season.

Maryland's No. 3 aggregation plays Clemson in a battle of outcasts. Both are under suspension from the Southern Conference for breaking league rules. The Terps will have to put on a good show to maintain their position since they've looked like anything but a championship outfit in their first two games.

The Southwest will have a full schedule of intersectional games. Yet the No. 1 clash from the loop standpoint will pit defending champion Texas Christian against Arkansas. TCU has lost two games already and has yet to score a point.

But neither were conference frays and the suspicion is that the Frogs will be rough among their own brothers.

Texas, the heir apparent to the title, plays Notre Dame while Southern Methodist is host to Georgia Tech, perhaps the top team in the Southland. Texas A & M entertains Kentucky; Baylor

AUTO REPAIRS

"What's a Safe Distance From the Car Ahead?"

Every day thousands of minor and major accidents are the result of getting up too close to the car ahead. The smart driver, the person who has a lot of respect for his 208 bones, stays a safe distance from the car ahead. And, what is that distance, you ask me? If you are traveling 35 miles an hour, keep at least six car lengths between you and the other fellow. His brakes may be OK but yours may not. Take no chances on crowding the other fellow, it's dangerous!

Here's another good tip! Broadway Motor Sales is prepared to keep your car in top-notch shape. Our highly trained mechanics know the "ins-and-outs" of every car on the road. For top service, all repair and body work, see us first.

May Form Independent NEO Basketball League

A Northeastern Ohio Basketball League for independent teams of Class A or Class AA calibre is being formed for the 1952-53 season and will include teams from this district if enough entries are received.

Teams who have already indicated they are interested in forming the league are Mansfield, Ashland Myers Pumps and the Massillon Army-Navy. Local cage fans will remember the latter two teams in the Little City Invitational tourney, the Ashland five winning the championship.

Interested teams may contact Herman Downard, 1435 Janice St. N. E., Massillon. His telephone is Massillon 2-1905. An organization meeting will be held in the near future.

In 1948, '49 and '50 the opening games of the World Series were 1-0 games. The shutouts were hurled by Johnny Sain of the Braves and Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi of the Yankees.

Only southpaw to lose a one-run decision in a World Series game the last five years was Dave Koslo. He was charged with the 4-3 setback in last year's final game against the Yankees.

Walter Cabral, 6-3 end at Notre Dame, comes from Honolulu.

Pittsburgh, Browns To Clash Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The mighty but bruised Cleveland Browns hope they find the going as easy tonight against Pittsburgh as they did in both Steeler games last year.

Cleveland's pro gridders dumped the Steelers twice in 1951, 17-0 and 28-0, and in one of those games the defensive unit scored all the touchdowns.

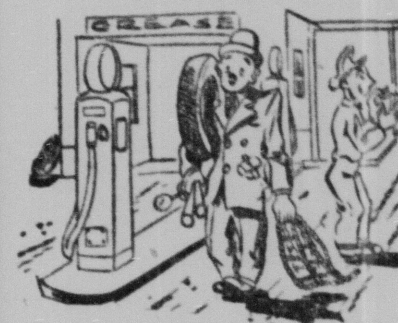

The Browns have had only two days practice for tonight's game, since Coach Paul Brown gave them two days rest after their 31-7 victory over the champion Los Angeles Rams in the season's opener.

About a third of the 33-man Cleveland team was on the injury list when the Browns left Cleveland Friday. But only Ken Carpenter and Dante Lavelli are expected to stay on the bench tonight.

Carpenter, the offensive halfback who ran out the longest gains against the Rams, has a charley horse. Lavelli, offensive end, has a bruised knee.

Dodgers In Driver's Seat With 5-3 Win Over Yankees

Lopat Slugged From Mound

Black To Pitch For Bums Today

NEW YORK (AP)—It appears to be unsafe to write the Dodgers out of this World Series.

Going into today's fourth game at the stadium holding a 2-1 lead and with their magnificent rookie, Joe Black, ready to give it another whirl, the National Leagueers were back in the driver's seat, fully recovered from the severe trouncing the Yankees gave them in the second contest.

Serious doubts were expressed that the Dodgers would heal in time to get back in the play-off. They answered that one in full as they slugged easy Ed Lopat from the hill in yesterday's fine 5-3 comeback. Again they looked like a great ball club in every respect, and it was the Bombers' turn to look a good deal less than terrific.

Pee Wee Reese showed the huge thong of over 66,000 why the National League considers him to be as brilliant a shortstop as there is in the business. The old geezer, Elwin (Preacher) Roe, showed them pitching class in the pinches which they will remember. It was quite an exhibition.

In throwing Black back at Casey Stengel's crew instead of saving him for relief duty the rest of the way, as he had originally planned, Dodger Manager Chas. Dressen again proves that he has the heart of a born gambler. But he was taking a mighty shrewd gamble. Should the big youngster beat Alie Reynolds again and make it 3-1 in victories the Dodgers would become overwhelming favorites to win their first world championship.

Stengel had no choice but to hand the ball to Reynolds, his only 20-game winner, and hope that the Chief would have a better game in his system than he had in losing the opener.

The Yankees know now that they have a good ball team out there against them, and it would be less than surprising if some of their customary confidence was missing after yesterday's depressing experience. It is not often that the Yanks get licked on a passed ball. Usually they count on such things happening to the other club.

Not only did the low pitch which got through Yogi Berra let in the two deciding runs in the top of the ninth, but it bunged Yogi up to where he is certain to be much less than his usually effective self for the balance of the series, if, indeed, he is able to play at all. For some reason known only to himself, the Yank backstop always catches with the index finger of his left hand sticking out of the glove. That was the digit which got split on the play, and he was wearing a bulky bandage on it last night. He said it was "hurting terrible."

There was considerable argument whether Yogi should have been charged with a passed ball. Many observers, including this one, thought that young Tom Gorman, who had just relieved Lopat, cut loose a wild pitch, but the official scorers saw it otherwise. Whichever it was, Berra looked like a fellow playing blind man's buff as he searched the premises for the pellet while Reese and across the plate. Of course, Andy Pafko followed with a single to right field which would have scored them anyhow, but no one will ever know whether he would have made the hit if the wild goings-on had not unsettled Gorman.

Lopat's failure to puzzle the National Leagueers only served to prove once again that they eat up southpaws. They murdered them all season, and one may feel quite certain that Stengel will not show them another in the current series.

GANGWAY — Paul Cameron, who rewrote Pacific Coast Conference records last fall, gives UCLA a tailback who can run, pass and kick. The splendid junior did exactly that this young season, leading the Bruins to victories over Oregon and Texas Christian.

Malvern Trounced By Goshen, 39-0

With Left Halfback Myron Stahl-smith scoring 24 points, Goshen Union High School smashed Malvern last night, 39-0. The game was played on the Sebring field. Stahl-smith scored twice in the first quarter, once in the second and again in the fourth. He ran the opening kickoff of the game back 62 yards for a TD. Stahl-smith's other scores came on runs of 4 yards, 20, and 18.

Boxer In Hospital After Knockout

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Jimmy (Bud) Taylor, promising 21-year-old Miami, Fla., boxer was in a serious condition today after a knockout. The Negro middleweight was felled twice in the third round by Charley Joseph of New Orleans. Friday night and then put down for the full count in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round match. Joseph weighed 155½ pounds Taylor 149½.

Taylor was reported to have a fractured skull and a brain clot. He was taken to Charity Hospital for an operation.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

CINCINNATI (AP)—A first degree murder indictment was returned Friday against Mrs. Betty Butler, 24, in the slaying of Evelyn Clark, 30, in Sharon Woods Sept. 6. County Prosecutor C. Watson Hoyer said the victim was strangled, then pushed into the fishing lake.

Red Peace Plan For Asia Told

Program Is Rehash Of Old Proposals

TOKYO (AP) — The Communists with much fanfare today unveiled a five point plan for Asian peace but it appeared nothing more than a rehash of Red proposals made frequently in the past two years.

The Red plan was introduced before delegates from 40 countries attending the Asian and Pacific Peace Conference in Red China's capital of Peiping.

Peiping radio, monitored in Tokyo, devoted its attention almost exclusively to the platform with which the Reds obviously hope to win sympathy in Asia.

Its main features were a call for an end to the Korean War—on Communist terms; and a five-power peace pact between the U. S., Britain, France, Soviet Russia and Red China for promoting international disarmament.

Kuo Mo-Jo, vice chairman of the Red China delegation, presented the first statement of policy before the conference which the Reds have been giving a terrific buildup for two months.

The five points:

1. An over-all solution to the "Japanese question" that would curb a resurgence of Japanese Militarism. Foreign troops (American) would withdraw from Japan and a new Japanese peace treaty be written. (Russia and her satellites not sign the U. S. written Japanese peace treaty signed by 49 nations.)
2. "That necessary steps be taken to end the war in Korea." These steps included return of all prisoners, including those Red soldiers who say they'll resist repatriation and withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea, including Chinese Communists.
3. A five-power peace pact between the U. S., United Kingdom, France, Soviet Union and Red China for outlining international disarmament and banning atomic, chemical and germ warfare.
4. Safeguards for the "national independence of all people of all countries." Specifically the Reds demanded a ban on nations providing military bases to foreign powers and "an end to the policy of international blockade, embargo and monopoly."

5. Ban war propaganda and end "discrimination against colored peoples" and halt "repression of peace movements."

of stubborn ignorance or spend our days in the leisurely indulgence of abstract argument."

He referred to the "red herring" statement by President Truman in the case of Alger Hiss, the former State Department official convicted of perjury after denying he gave government secrets to a Red spy ring.

Eisenhower said: "There are those who cheered the blithe dismissal of the Alger Hiss case as a 'red herring.'"

And then he referred to a Stevenson speech on communism, saying "an administration servant grandly declared" Communists in government were "not very important" and too much time should not be wasted "chasing phantoms."

Eisenhower said: "Do you think these fish stories, ghost stories and animal stories are really very amusing? Such comedy touches do little to relieve the tragic knowledge that we have been for years the glib victims of Communist espionage agents."

"These experts in treason have plundered us of secrets involving our highest diplomatic decisions, our atomic research. Tragically, we do not know how much more our security may have been jeopardized."

He added: "This, I repeat, has been a calamity of immeasurable consequence," and to minimize it "is criminal folly."

Then he said: "You can never cure malignant growth just by a hearty bedside manner."

Eisenhower had said earlier there were "some among us who argued cunningly" for the idea that democracy and communism both believed in freedom.

He said this idea insinuated itself into schools, public forums, labor unions and government.

"What did this penetration into government mean?" he said. "It meant contamination in some degree of virtually every department, every agency, every bureau, every section of government. It meant a government by men whose very brains were confused by the opiate of deceit."

He named these men as the advisers who formed American foreign policy. And he added: "This penetration meant a domestic policy whose tone was set by men who sneered and scoffed at warnings of the enemy infiltrating our most secret councils."

"It meant—in its most ugly triumph—treason itself."

Kennan

F. Davis, one-time secretary of war.

Should Kennan's post be left vacant indefinitely, some authorities said privately they believed it likely Moscow might voluntarily recall Zarubin, with the result that relations between Washington and Moscow could degenerate to a routine character handled by subordinate officials.

Several congressmen, however, said they favored some sort of retaliatory action. They included Rep. Bursleson (D-Tenn.), Rep. Machrowicz (D-Mich.), Rep. Battle (D-Ala.), Sen. Morse (R-Ore) and Sen. Cordon (R-Ore).

"I don't think we ought to take this lying down," Battle said. "The only thing they understand are power plays."

"If the Communists don't want to accept the ambassador we select, then I think we should serve clear notice on the Communists that we will have no ambassador at all," Sen. Morse commented.

British officials expressed surprise and concern at Russia's move, and speculated privately in London that it would bring retaliatory U. S. action against Zarubin. The result, they said, would be a worsening of U. S.-Russian relations.

Sanor Model Woods Pay High Dividends

A model woodlot on the L. E. Sanor & Sons farm, two miles south of North Georgetown, yielded substantial dividends in four years out of five-year period for which records were kept.

James Meteer, forester at the Ohio Experiment Station at Wooster, cited this fact to approximately 50 farmers who toured the farm Friday in observance of Farm Forestry Field Day.

Protected and managed properly for 65 years by the Sanor family, the woods yielded between $1.10 and $2.50 per acre for the time spent. Ohio dairymen only average about 58 cents an hour, Mr. Meteer said.

Average gross totaled 260 board feet per acre a year and the same number of board feet of lumber was harvested, he pointed out.

Trees in the woods grew much faster than those in an average woodlot, despite the fact they were 80 per cent Maple and Beech, which grow about half as fast as poplar, a fast-growing variety.

Mr. Meteer said 25,650 board feet of lumber and 88 cords of wood were cut in the five-year span.

Gross return on maple syrup averaged $55 per acre each year. Average per cent of growth was 3.2 a year, he concluded.

Postoffice Employees Must Be Mind Readers!

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shone of 1020 E. Third St. are convinced post-office employees are mind readers.

A postcard simply addressed Mrs. Shone, 1020 E. Third St., Salem, was mailed to them from Queens Village, N.Y., and was postmarked 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Jamaica, N.Y. The card bore no other identifying marks.

Considering there are 27 Salem's in the nation, it is a rarity that the Shones should have gotten the card for months, if not for years. What makes the situation more unique, there are numerous variations of Salem, with directions or the work, "city," before or after the name.

They must be mind readers!
